

Who am I in a traumatised and traumatizing Society?

Oslo, 22nd of February 2019

www.franz-ruppert.de

‘Society’ = the outside world is the mirror of the inner world of human beings.

The condition of our human psyche determines how we live together.

How much do we know about the human psyche, and how our psyche develops?

2/18/2019

© Prof. Dr. Franz Ruppert

3

What could be our aim?

- A good life for myself
- A good life for those who live together with me on this planet
- A global society of autonomous and self-responsible subjects who take responsibility and enjoy their communities

The primary human condition:

Our relationship with our mother is our first 'society'.

This 'we' provides the imprint for our experiences with all further social affairs.

What happens, then, if your mother is traumatised?

You become traumatised too!

The same is true for the relationship between fathers and their children:

Traumatized fathers produce traumatized sons and daughters.

Trauma of being a Perpetrator

Trauma of Sexuality

Trauma of Love

Trauma of Identity

The Psychotrauma Biography

The Trauma Trio for many of us:

Being unwanted!

Being unloved!

Being unprotected!

© Prof. Dr. Franz Ruppert

Splitting of the human psyche after a traumatising experience

Section 2:
Traumatised parts,
in a helpless,
overwhelmed state

Section 3:
Surviving parts,
Under permanent stress

Section 1:
Healthy parts

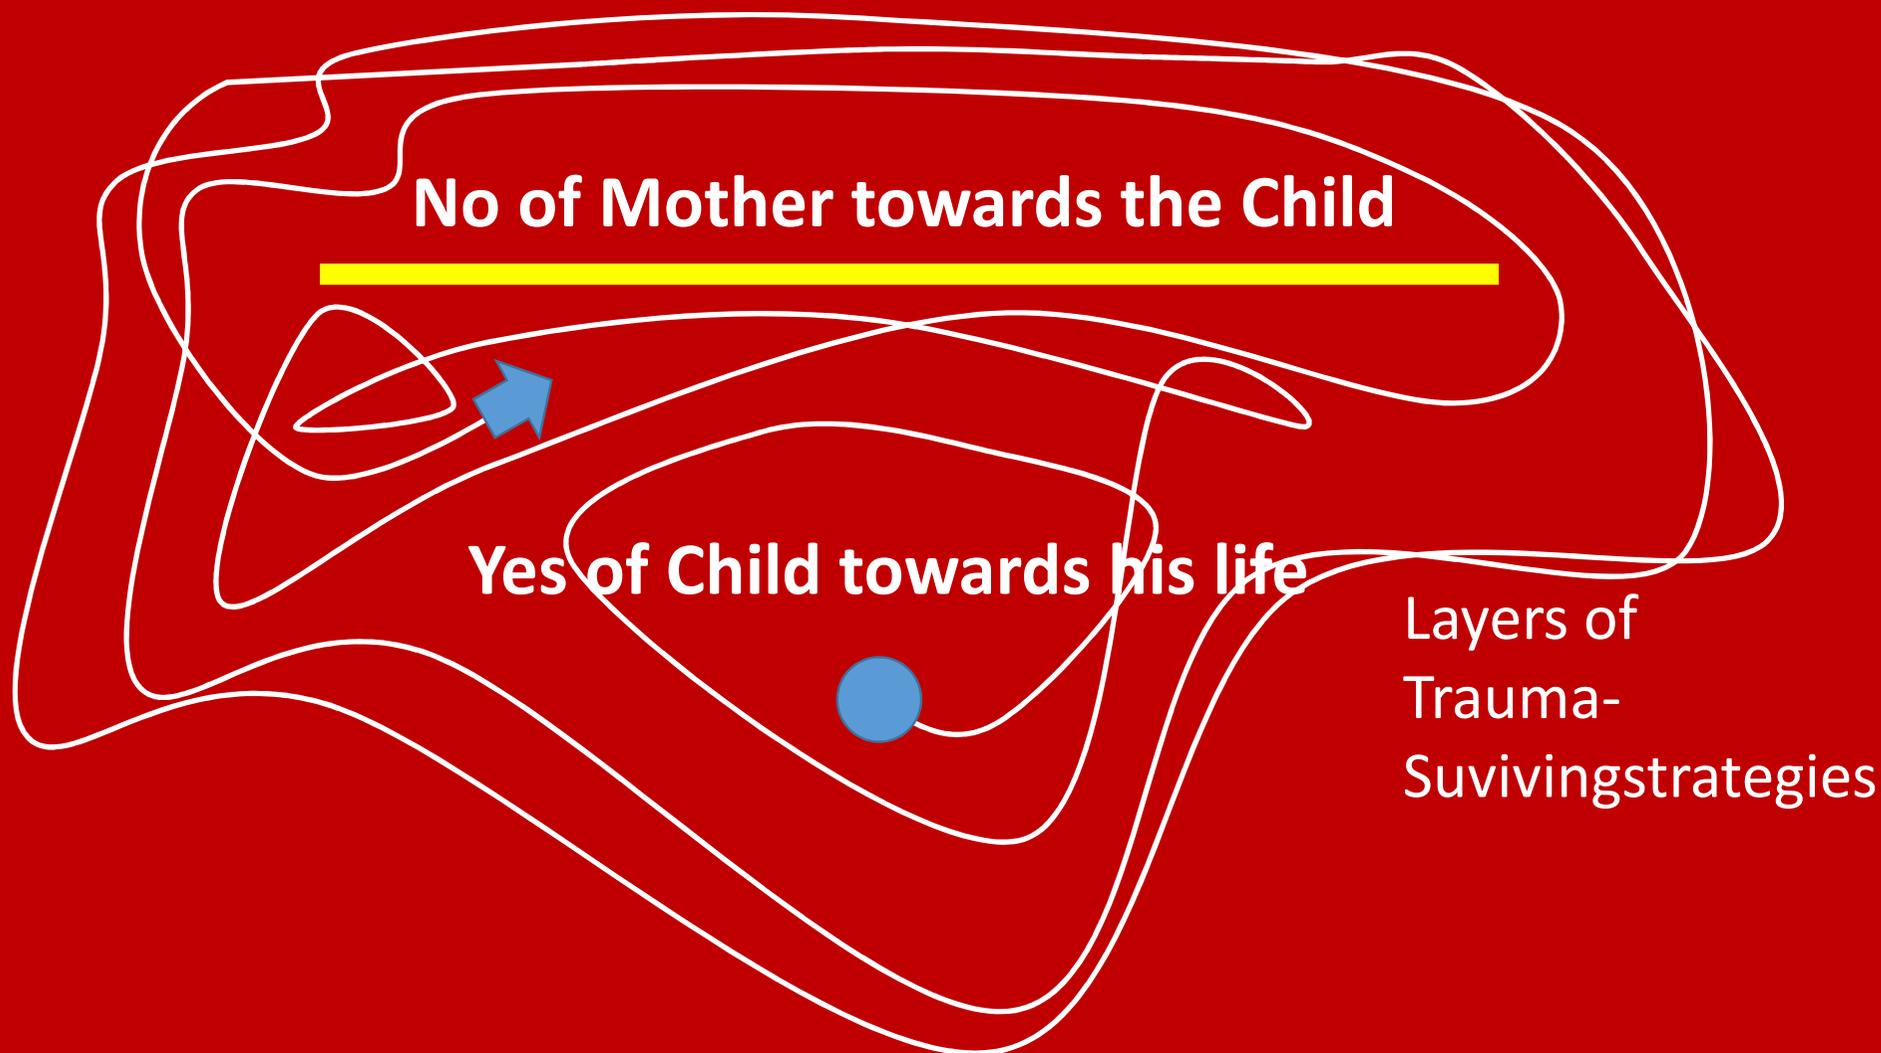

Psychotrauma Surviving Strategies

- Denying reality
- Creating illusions

Trauma of Identity

- Being unwanted
- Healthy 'I' and personal will is split-off
- Adaptation to the 'No' of the mother
- Serving the mother's surviving strategies
- Accepting other's attributions (e.g. psychiatric diagnoses)
- Identifying with external entities (e.g. nationality, religion, values, other people, sport clubs, money ...)

No of Mother towards the Child

Yes of Child towards his life

Layers of Trauma-
Suvivingstrategies

Trauma of Identity

Trauma of Love

- Feeling abandoned and unloved
- Idealisation of parents, partners, children ...
- Trying to rescue others
- Identifying with relationships ('we' rather than 'I')
- Constant disappointment and attempts to be seen
- Denying one's own trauma

Trauma of Love

Love of the Child or Rebellion

Trauma of Sexuality

- Being made an object of another persons sexual thrives
- Feelings of intense shame and disgust
- Lacking and denying memories
- Idealisation of perpetrators
- Repeating situations of sexual exploitation and vulnerability

Psychological Splitting of a Victim of Trauma

Section 2:
Being a Victim

Section 3:
Victim Attitudes

Section 1:
Healthy 'I' and
'Will'

Victim Attitudes

- Keep smiling!
- Obey the rules!
- Care for others, not for yourself!
- Feel guilty!
- Feel ashamed!
- Don't be weak! Be strong!
- Love and protect the perpetrators!

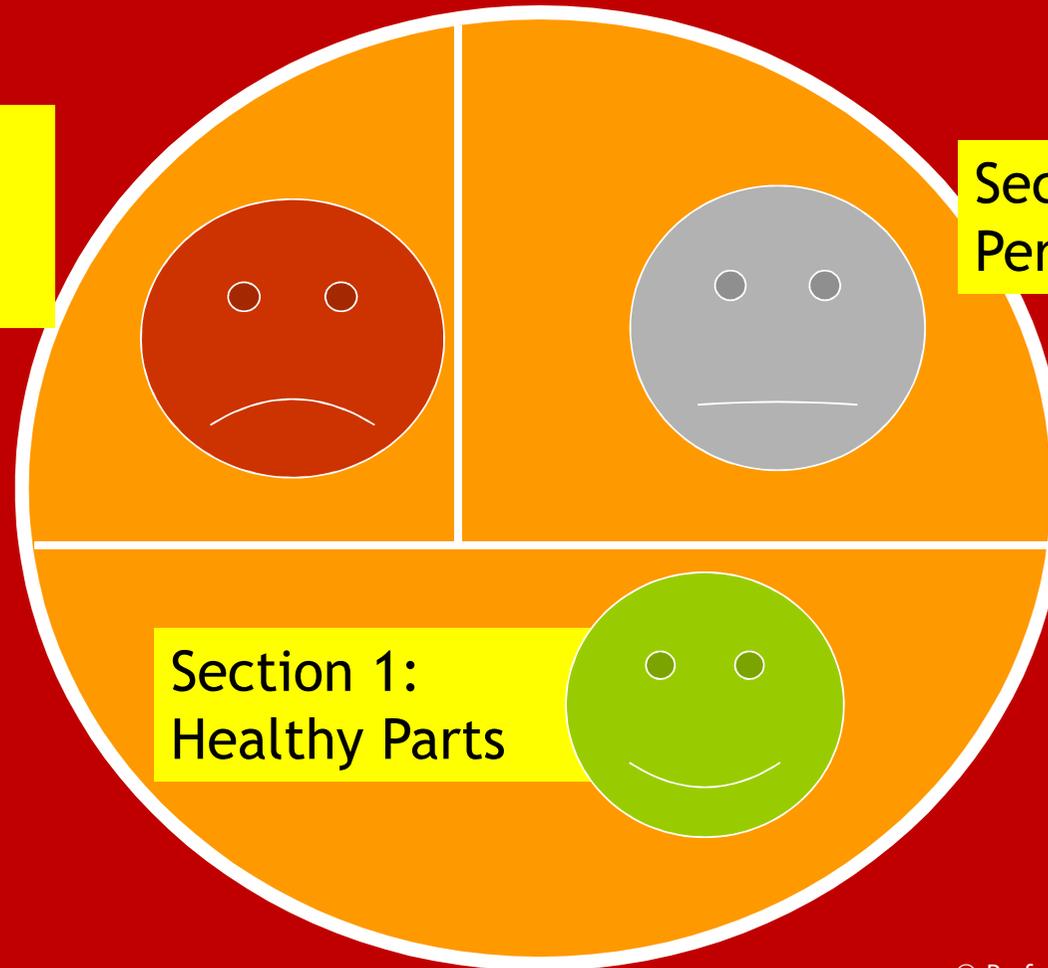

Trauma of being a Perpetrator

- Traumatizing others
- Feelings of shame, guilt, fear of exclusion
- Need to develop perpetrator attitudes

Splitting inside a Perpetrator

Section 2:
Being a Perpetrator

Section 3:
Perpetrator Attitudes

Perpetrator Attitudes

- Lie and deny!
- Don't show feelings or compassion!
- Become superior to others!
- Compete and win!
- Ignore the subjectivity of others!
- Hide behind roles and masks!
- ...

Many traumatised humans together create a traumatised and traumatising society.

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

- A high ratio of unwanted children
- Many women who do not want to have children, or have so many children
- A high ratio of complicated births, and birth processes that include violent intervention (caesarean section, induction ...)

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

- High ratio of babies who are separated from their mothers too early and for too long
- Early neglect of babies and young children
- Many single mothers in poverty
- Many sexually traumatized children

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

Violence in partnerships and marriages

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

- Highly competitive educational system
- Highly competitive economic system
- A rich few, and a mass of poor people
- An economy that produces systematically losers
- And financial crisis

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

- High ratio of crime because of money
- A legal system of punishment that further traumatizes by isolation and prison treatment

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

- Pornography, prostitution, criminal gangs
- Drug abuse and addictive behaviours in many forms
- High rates of chronic health problems, a health care system that produces new traumata
- High rates of mental illness, and a psychiatric system that is traumatising additionally
- High rate of suicide

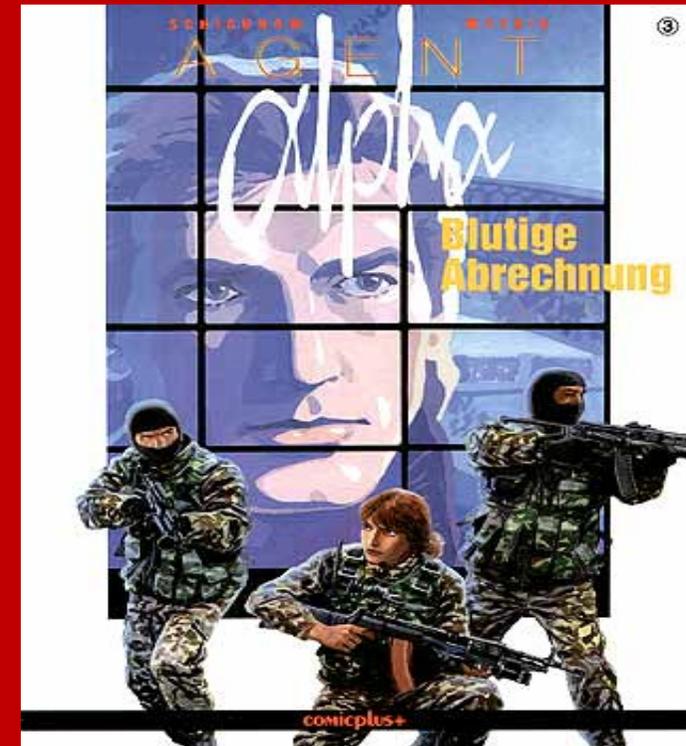

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

- Manipulation of thinking by the mass media
- Sciences that produce ideologies
- Racism and prejudice in all its forms (race, gender, colour, religion)
- Nationalism
- Political extremism

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

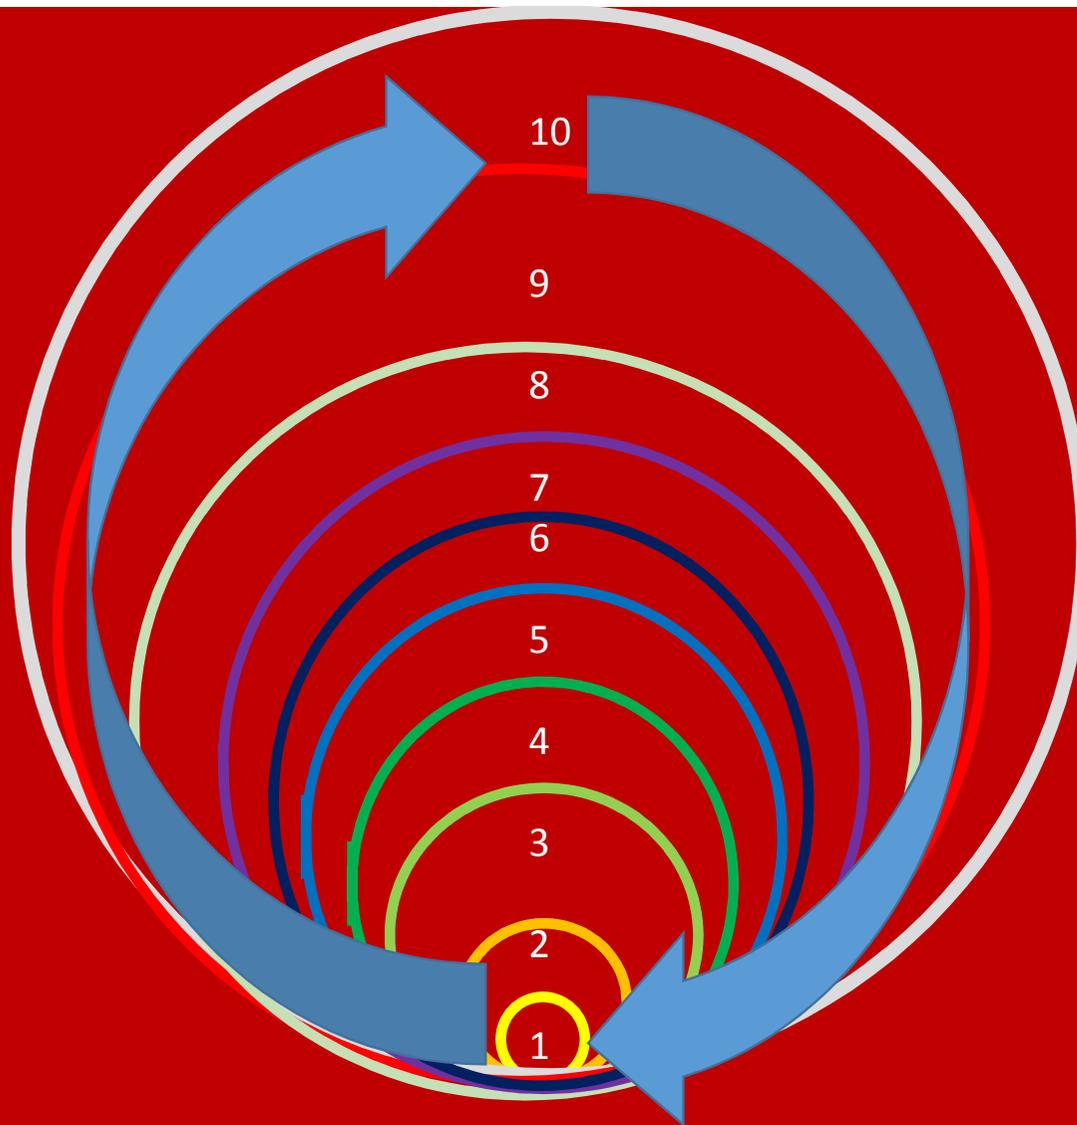

- Terrorist acts executed by states, organised terrorist groups and individuals
- High financial commitment to military and secret services
- Permanent wars and readiness for military conflicts
- Millions of refugees

Symptoms of a Traumatized Society

- Partners are Perpetrators
- Parents are Perpetrators
- Economic leaders are Perpetrators
- Political leaders are Perpetrators
- Violence and competition are glorified

1. Traumatized mothers and fathers traumatising their children
2. Traumatizing obstetrics
3. Traumatizing early care systems
4. Highly competitive educational system
5. Highly competitive economic system
6. Conflict between the sexes
7. Symptom-oriented health care system
8. Symptom-oriented legal system
9. Symptom-oriented political system
10. Competition between nations with permanent readiness for war

Most obvious Trauma Symptoms

WARS

Destruction of Nature
Violence against Children
Rape

Disguised perpetrator
and victim attitudes

Corruption, Arms Trade
Money Laundering,
Secret Services
Dark Net

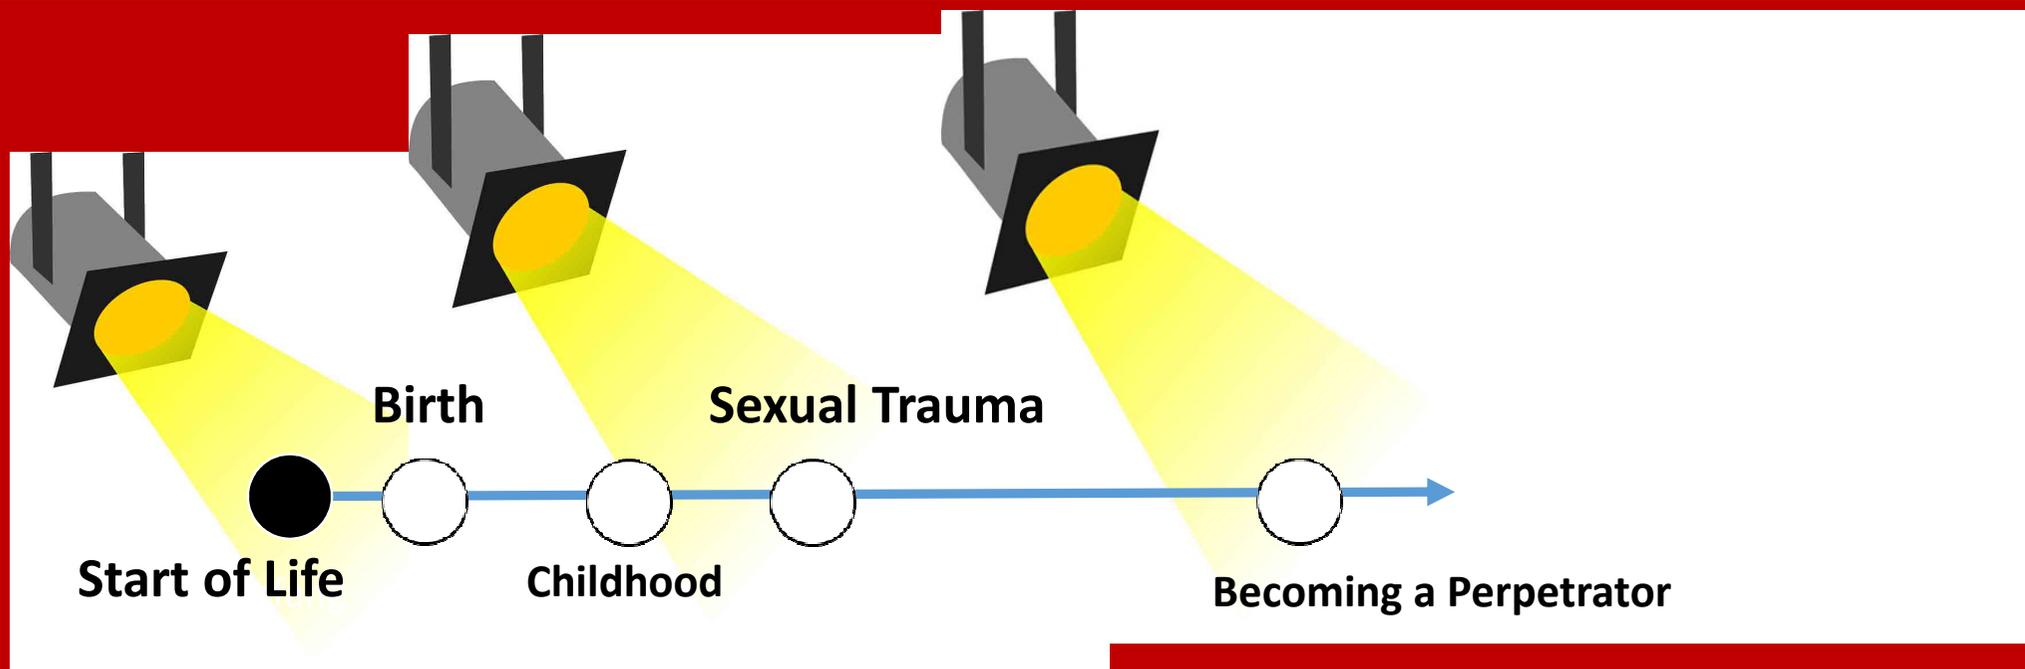

Trauma of Sexuality
Trauma of Love
Trauma of Identity

Pre-, peri-, post-natal trauma

In a traumatised and traumatising society it is
'normal' to experience your healthy needs as something alien to you, and to see what is contrary to your interests as if it is in fact yours.

In traumatised and traumatizing societies the reality of psychotrauma is the most neglected and ignored fact.

The way out:

- Look at yourself – exit your trauma biography
- Make use of the potentials of Identity oriented Psychotrauma theory and therapy (IoPT)

- Become for yourself the Society you want to life with.
- Encourage others to do the same.
- Together we can support each other.
- If you want to take a leading role in society please make the effort to exit your trauma biography.

Literature

- Kohn, A. (1986). No contest. The case against competition. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company.
- Ruppert, F. & Banzhaf, H. (Hg.) (2018). My Body, my Trauma, My I. Steyning: Green Balloon Publishing. (English translation in progress)
- Ruppert, F. (2019). Who am I in a traumatised and traumatizing Society? Green Balloon Publishing. (English translation in progress)